Whitehall, November 2.

BY Intelligence received from the Earl of Yarmouth, dated Brumpt, Auſtrian Head Quarters, October 20, it appears, that on the Morning of the 17th General Wurmſer, having received Information that Haguenau had ſurrendered to the Advanced Corps under General Mezaroes, he immediately put the Bulk of his Army into Motion, and arrived there that Night, a few Hours after it had been evacuated by the Enemy, who had made ſo precipitate a Retreat, as to neglect breaking down the wooden Bridges over which the Artillery was to paſs. That, on the 18th, the French encamped on the Right Bank of the Zorn, a ſmall River which runs through Brumpt, but on perceiving ſome Interval between General Mezaroes' Advanced Corps, conſiſting of about 6,000 Men, and the other Columns of the Army, they croſſed the River, and attacked him, with their whole Force, in the evident Expectation of turning his Flank, and cutting him off from the reſt of the Army. The Action laſted Seven Hours; but upon perceiving the reſt of the Auſtrian Army move forward, the French re-croſſed the River, and evacuated the Heights and Town of Brumpt, of which the Auſtrians took Poſſeſſion. The Loſs on the Part of the French is eſtimated at about 800 Men, and that of the Auſtrians nearly Half that Number, in killed and wounded. That the Prince of Waldeck had advanced with his Corps from Seltz, aad marched along the Banks of the Rhine. That he had compelled the Surrender of Druzenheim, and, after having driven in the Garriſon of Fort Louis, with ſome Loſs, had inveſted the Place. That, in the Courſe of the Night, the French had abandoned their former Poſition on the Zorn, and retreated, under the Cannon of Straſbourg. That General Wurmſer was at the Diſtance of Nine Engliſh Miles from that Place.

In Addition to the Accounts already publiſhed of the forcing the Lines of Weiſſembourg and Lauterbourg it appears, that the Auſtrian Army had between Seven and Eight Hundred Men killed and wounded; and that the Loſs of the French amounted to between Three and Four Thouſand Men killed, from Five to Six Hundred Priſoners, and 26 Pieces of Cannon, with their Ammunition Waggons and Horſes. The Retreat of the French, on this Occaſion, was greatly favoured by a thick Fog.

Whitehall, November 2.

DISPATCHES from Sir James Murray, Adjutant-General to the Forces under the Command of His Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, of which the following are Extracts, were received by the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, His Majeſty's Principal Secretary for the Home Department, on Wedneſday laſt.

Extract of a Letter from Sir James Murray, Bart. to Mr. Secretary Dundas, dated Tournai, October 24, 1793.

I Have the Honor to inform you, that the Enemy made, upon the 21ſt Inſtant, an Attack upon the Advanced Poſts of the Camp at Menin, particularly thoſe of Werwick and Halouin: They were every where repulſed; but the Day following they renewed the Attack with great Violence, and at laſt ſucceeded in gaining Poſſeſſion of Werwick.

Menin being by this Means expoſed, Lieutenant-General Erbach, who commanded there, found it neceſſary to evacuate the Town, and to retire with his Corps upon Courtray. This Corps was compoſed of Auſtrian and Hanoverian Troops. The Particulars of their Loſs are not yet come to my Knowledge, but I underſtand that it amounts, in Killed and Wounded, to near 300 Men.

The

The Enemy likewiſe attacked the Troops poſted at the Camp of Ciſoing upon the 21ſt, 22d and 23d, but they were repulſed each Day with Loſs, having had upon the 22d near 400 Men killed and taken. The Inniſkilling's and the 16th Regiment of Light Dragoons behaved with great Spirit upon this Occaſion. The Attacks of the Enemy were chiefly directed againſt the Poſts of Nomain upon the Left, and Willem upon the Right, of both of which they at different Times gained Poſſeſſion, but were again driven from them by Reinforcements ſent from the Camp.

This Day the Enemy attacked the Poſt of Major-General Kray, at Orchies. No further Particulars are at preſent known, than that they have been repulſed with the Loſs of Five Pieces of Cannon.

Extract of a Letter from Sir James Murray, dated Tournai, October 25, 1793.

ACCOUNTS have been received that the Enemy advanced upon the 22d upon Furnes, which was abandoned at their Approach. They then proceeded againſt Nieuport; but Recourſe having been had to the Inundations, of which the Country near that Place is ſuſceptible, they were obliged to retreat.

Lieutenant-General Wurmb, upon the Loſs of Menin, left his Poſition by Dixmude and Fort Knocke, and is now poſted at Thouroute, where he covers Bruges, and communicates with the Corps near Courtray.

It is His Royal Highneſs's Intention to attack the Enemy at Menin upon Monday next. General Walmoden will command the Troops employed upon this Service, which will be thoſe under Lieutenant-General Wurmb, now at Thouroute, and the Corps which lately occupied the Camp at Menin. The reſt of His Royal Highneſs's Forces will co-operate in different Ways towards this Attack; and ſhould it be ſucceſsful, there is Reaſon to hope that upon this Frontier every Thing may be re-eſtabliſhed upon it's former Footing.

Whitehall, November 2.

A Diſpatch was laſt Night received from Sir James Murray, Adjutant-General to His Majeſty's Forces under the Command of His Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, by the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, His Majeſty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, of which the following is a Copy.

Camphin, October 29, 1793.

SIR,

I Had the Honor of informing you, in my laſt Diſpatch, of His Royal Highneſs's Intention to make every poſſible Effort for the Protection of Auſtrian Flanders, which ſeemed to be in imminent Danger from the Attempts of the Enemy upon the whole Frontier of that Province.

Conſiſtent with this Intention His Royal Highneſs determined to attack the Enemy at Menin, upon the 28th Inſtant. General Walmoden, to whom the Execution of this Deſign was to be entruſted, went, upon the 26th, to Courtray, to take the Command of the Corps which had formerly occupied the Camp at Menin. Lieutenant-General Buſche took the Command of that which had been poſted at Mouſcron, but which had fallen back to Warcoing. The Attack was to be made upon different Points by theſe Corps, in Conjunction with that of Lieutenant-General Wurmb, which lay at that Time in the Neighbourhood of Thoroute.

Upon the Morning of the 27th His Royal Highneſs marched with the Troops which were encamped before Tournay, to take up the Poſition he had formerly occupied between Baiſieux and Cyſoing, and which had been left ſome Days before. Different Poſts, which the Enemy had eſtabliſhed upon the Marque, were driven back. A Piquet of Six Officers and 150 Men, which had been poſted at the Village of Saingain, retreated acroſs the Plain towards Lezennes; they had nearly reached the laſt mentioned Village when a Squadron of the 2d Dragoon Guards, led on by Major Craufurd, Aide de Camp to His Royal Highneſs, advancing with Rapidity, gained their Right Flank, and charged them with ſo much Vigour and Succeſs that not a ſingle Man eſcaped; 104 Priſoners were taken, and the reſt killed upon the Spot. The Squadron of the 2d Dragoon Guards had only Two Men killed and One Man wounded. The other Squadron of the Queen's Dragoon Guards, Two Squadrons of the Royals, and a Diviſion of Auſtrian Light Dragoons, came up in the Purſuit.

In the mean Time the Enemy had made Progreſs in another Part of the Country. They had attacked Nieuport, and paſſed, though only with a ſmall Body, the Canal of Ypres at Shooreback. In conſequence of this Lieutenant-General Wurmb had fallen back upon Ghiſtel, in order to cover Bruges and Oſtend.

This Change of General Wurmb's Poſition rendered abortive the Plan which had been formed for the Attack of Menin upon the 28th. His Royal Highneſs therefore, ſtill keeping that important Object in View, ſent a Reinforcement of Three Battalions to Lieutenant-General Buſche, who had by this Time advanced again with his Corps to Mouſcron, and diſlodged the Enemy from that Poſt, of which they had taken Poſſeſſion; and it was determined that the Attack of Menin ſhould be made on the 29th, by the Corps of General Walmoden and General Buſche; the former advancing directly upon the Town of Menin, the latter upon the Right Bank of the Lys, againſt the Village and Heights of Hallouin.

In order to favour this Enterprize, by drawing the Attention of the Enemy to another Quarter, His Royal Highneſs ſent, upon the Evening of the 28th, Two Battalions of Auſtrian Infantry, and

ſome Companies of Light Troops, with Two Twelve-Pounders and Two Howitzers, under the Command of Major-General Werneck, and Two Battalions of Britiſh Infantry, (the Flank Battalion and that of the 3d Regiment of Guards) with One Squadron of the 7th and One of the 15th Light Dragoons, with Two Twelve-Pounders and Two Howitzers likewiſe, to attack Lannoy, which the Enemy had entrenched, and occupied with 1500 Men.

Major-General Abercrombie commanded this Detachment; and he had Orders to expoſe the Troops as little as poſſible, but to confine the Attack to a Cannonade, until the Enemy ſhould be driven from their Poſt. This Plan had the deſired Succeſs. After reſiſting ſome Time the heavy and well-directed Fire of the Britiſh and Auſtrian Artillery, which was gradually advanced to within a very ſmall Diſtance of the Town, the French gave Way, retiring in great Diſorder, Part of them towards Liſle, and Part towards Roubay. They were purſued with great Spirit by Lieutenant Colonel Churchill, at the Head of the Two Squadrons of Light Dragoons, who killed and wounded near 100 of them, and took 59 Priſoners. Several others were killed and taken by a Party of Auſtrian Infantry, who entered the Town. There were taken in all about 150 Priſoners, and Five Pieces of Cannon, beſides ſeveral Tumbrils and Baggage Waggons. The Killed are ſuppoſed to have amounted to between Two and Three Hundred.

In Point of Numbers the Loſs upon our Side has been very inconſiderable; but unfortunately Captain Sutherland, of the Royal Engineers, an Officer of acknowledged Merit, was killed upon this Occaſion. Though not called upon to be preſent at the Attack, he had been induced by his Zeal to accompany the Detachment. I am ſorry to add, that Lieutenant Thornton, of the Artillery, has loſt his Arm. The Auſtrians had Eight or Ten Men killed and wounded.

About the Concluſion of this Affair, Accounts were received from General Walmoden, that the Enemy had evacuated Menin the preceding Night, and that they had the Appearance of intending to give up their Attack upon Ypres.

The March of His Royal Highneſs from Engleſontaine, and the ſubſequent Movements of the Troops under his Command, ſeem to have induced the Enemy to abandon the Enterprizes in which they had engaged upon this Side of Auſtrian Flanders, and in which they had been, to a certain Degree, ſucceſsful.

By Accounts from Nieuport of the 28th, the French had ſummoned that Town, and upon Lieutenant-Colonel de Wurmb's Refuſal to ſurrender, they had erected Batteries againſt it. There ſeemed, however, to be reaſonable Grounds to expect that the Place would hold out. I underſtand that the Attack made there upon the 24th was a very ſevere one; the 53d Regiment having had Lieutenant Latham and Ten Men killed, and Captain Ferguſon and Eighteen wounded.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

THE following Diſpatches from General Sir Charles Grey, K. B. and Rear-Admiral Macbride were Yeſterday Evening received at the Office of the Right Honourable Henry Dundas, His Majeſty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department.

Oſtend, October 29, 1793, Three o'Clock, P. M.

SIR,

I HAD the Honor of writing to you Yeſterday Morning from Deal, to inform you of my Arrival there, and of my Intention immediately to embark for this Place. We got under Way between Ten and Eleven o'Clock, and about Half paſt Seven in the Evening came to an Anchor in Nieuport Roads. In conſequence of the Accounts I received there from Captain Murray of the State of that Place, and the Force brought againſt it by the French, I judged it neceſſary immediately to diſpatch Major-General Dundas to Oſtend, with Orders to take under his Command the 42d Regiment and Four Companies of Light Infantry, and to march, with all poſſible Expedition, to the Support of the Garriſon; at the ſame Time ſending Colonel Symes to Nieuport, to give the Commander Notice of my Arrival, and of the intended Reinforcement.

The Enemy kept up a conſtant Fire during the greateſt Part of the Night, which was anſwered by by the Garriſon, and diſtinctly ſeen from the Quebec. At about Two this Morning, it became more violent, and continued with great Briſkneſs on both Sides. When we paſſed Nieuport, about Ten, we ſaw Major-General Dundas on his March, within Two Miles of the Place, and I have this Inſtant received a Letter from him, announcing his Arrival. He ſays, he finds every Thing as well as he could expect; that the Enemy threatened much, kept up a conſtant Fire, and had laſt Night carried one of the Towers, within 1700 Yards of the Place. He has made a Requiſition of ſeveral Articles neceſſary to the Defence of the Place, which I have ordered to be forwarded to him immediately. With the Force now on Foot, aſſiſted by the Inundation, I hope it may be preſerved, and the further Progreſs of the French on this Side checked. Notwithſtanding the conſtant Fire kept up by the Enemy, I am happy to inform you that the Loſs of the Garriſon has hitherto been inconſiderable, but I have yet received no regular Returns.

The Service has derived the greateſt Benefit from the Zeal and Activity of Rear-Admiral Macbride, Captain Murray, and the Naval Officers under his Command.

A Supply of Ammunition, of which the Garriſon was much in Want, was this Morning ſent from the Fleet, and about 100 Seamen, under Captain Rogers, have been landed, to aſſiſt in working at the Batteries. Every Commendation is due to the gallant Defence made by Colonel Wurmb and the Garriſon under his Command.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

C. GREY.

Wedneſday Morning, Seven o'Clock.

THE Departure of the Cutter, which will carry this Diſpatch, having been delayed, I have an Opportunity of adding, that I have received Accounts from Major General Dundas, dated Ten o'Clock laſt Night. The Fire from the Enemy had been violent during the the whole Day, but had ceaſed for near Three Hours. The Garriſon ill maintained all their Poſts, and the Troops remained all Night under Arms on the Ramparts.

am juſt ſetting off for Nieuport, in order to judge myſelf, on the Spot, of the farther Meaſures which it may be neceſſary to take for it's Defence.

Right Hon. Henry Dundas.

Oſtend, October 30, 1793.

SIR,

MY laſt Diſpatch announced to you the Situation of the Garriſon of Nieuport, as far as I was informed of it, to the Time of my Departure for that Place this Morning. On my Road thither I was met by ſeveral Perſons, with the agreeable Intelligence, that the French were retiring, which was confirmed on my Arrival. They began their Retreat in the Night, and a Part only of the Rear Guard was viſible at Day-break this Morning. They returned along the Road to Dunkirk, ſetting Fire to every Thing in their Way.

I went with Major-General Dundas to viſit the Poſts which they occupied, and, from the Extent of their Encampment, I ſhould imagine that their Numbers could not have been leſs than was repreſented to us, about 8,000. What Loſs they may have ſuſtained during the Siege I have no Means of eſtimating: Our's, as I have already had the Pleaſure of informing you, was very inconſiderable. I now incloſe you a regular Return of that of the 42d and 53d Regiments; that of the Heſſians I have not been able to learn accurately, but it is not greater in Proportion. The French have left behind them Four Twenty-four Pounders and Two Mortars, as well as a great Number of Shot, Shells, and Intrenching Tools. The Whole were ſecured, and a great Part brought into the Town before I left it. I have already ſpoken in Commendation of the gallant Behaviour of Colonel de Wurmb and the Garriſon under his Command; I cannot, however, help adding, upon a more exact Knowledge of their Situation, when firſt attacked, that the Safety of Nieuport is owing to their Courage and Perſeverance in it's Defence, with Means very diſproportionate to the Force brought againſt them. The Artilletry, under Captain Bothwick, with the 53d Regiment, whoſe Loſs has been the greateſt, have been very much diſtinguiſhed; and I think it only an Act of Juſtice to mention, in Terms of the higheſt Approbation, Major Mathews, whoſe long Services and particular Exertions on this Occaſion will, I hope, recommend him to His Majeſty's Notice. I feel alſo that much is due to the Zeal and Intelligence with which Major-General Dundas undertook and executed the Service entruſted to him after his Arrival at Nieuport, as well as to Colonel Symes and Captain Rogers, and the Officers, Marines and Seamen from the Fleet.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

C. GREY.

P. S. The Heſſian Return of their Loſs I have received ſince I wrote this Diſpatch, which I incloſe.

Quebec, Oct. 31, off Nieuport.

SIR,

I Beg Leave to acquaint you, that I ſailed from the Downs on Monday, at Eleven, P. M. and the following Evening anchored off Nieuport between Seven and Eight. The Enemy were firing upon the Town from their Guns and Mortars. I found Captain Murray with the Squadron I had detached to their Aſſiſtance; from him I learnt that the Garriſon ſtood in great Need of Artillery, Powder and Ammunition, and were very weak in Point of Artillery Men; 60 Seamen were ſent from the Ships, under the Command of Mr. Thomas Gibbs, Acting Lieutenant of the Triton, whoſe Conduct has been highly meritorious; a Party of 40 Seamen and Marines from the Quebec, with a large Supply of Powder and Ammunition, was ſent on Shore in the Morning under the Direction of Captain Rogers, who requeſted to command the Naval Detachment; to his active Zeal and Ability the Service is much indebted. Lieutenant Clements, who at preſent commands the Albion armed Ship, was kept in Readineſs to force their Way into the Harbour, which was in Poſſeſſion of the Enemy, when that Meaſure was deemed neceſſary. The Detachment from Oſtend were ſeen marching along the Strand in the Morning, and ſoon entered Nieuport. The Enemy, however, rendered our Intentions uſeleſs, for they abandoned their Enterprize in the Night. I refer to Sir Charles Grey's Letter for the Detail of the Military Operations, reſpecting the Security of this important Poſt. Mr. Gibbs is the Bearer of this Diſpatch, to whom I refer you for Particulars.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

(Signed) JOHN MACBRIDE.

P. S. I have the Pleaſure to add, the Auſtrians have driven the French out of Furnes this Morning.
